

The premeditated path Deliberate metaphor in ancient and modern texts

Conference July 7–8, 2016

Venue

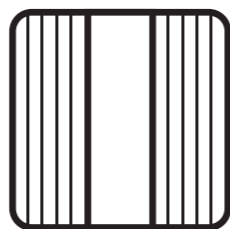

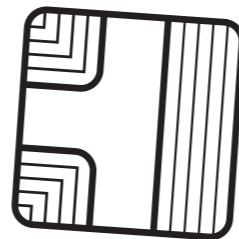

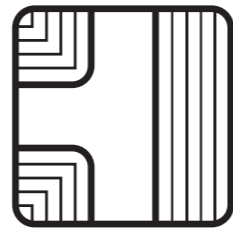

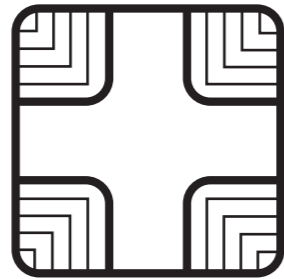

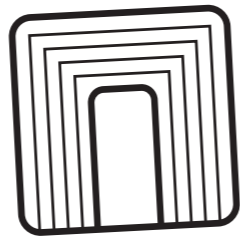

Topoi Building Mitte
Hannoversche Straße 6
10115 Berlin

Organising Committee

Camilla Di Biase-Dyson
cdibias@uni-goettingen.de

Markus Egg
markus.egg@anglistik.hu-berlin.de

www.topoi.org/event/32733/

07.07.2016

09:30 Welcome and introduction to the theme

Section 1: Theory and method

10:00 Gerard Steen – Universiteit van Amsterdam – Core concepts of DMT: Intentions, attention, and genre knowledge

11:00 Break

11:30 Gudrun Reijnierse – Universiteit van Amsterdam – DMIP: A method for identifying potentially deliberate metaphor in discourse

12:15 Camilla Di Biase-Dyson – Georg-August-Universität Göttingen – A typological framework of deliberateness for Ancient Egyptian metaphorical language

13:00 Lunch

Section 2:

Perspectives from other modalities

14:30 Alan Cienki – Vrije Universiteit Amsterdam – Speakers' (possible) metacommunicative awareness: A multimodal perspective, with special attention to metaphor

15:30 Kyra van der Moezel – Johannes Gutenberg-Universität Mainz – Deliberate use of metaphor as mnemonic device for identification in a non-linguistic modality. The case of Deir el-Medina (Egypt)

16:15 Break

Section 3: Deliberateness and genre

16:45 Anna Piata – University of Geneva – Is all poetic metaphor deliberate? Exploring the relationship between verbal creativity and deliberateness

17:30 Chiara Ferella – Excellence Cluster Topoi – Metaphors in ancient Greek medical texts

18:30 Dinner at Topoi Building Mitte

08.07.2016

Section 4: Deliberateness case studies from ancient texts

09:30 Johan de Joode – University of Birmingham – Deliberate spatial metaphors in biblical poetry and their non-deliberate counterparts

10:30 Elisabeth Steinbach – Freie Universität Berlin – How to detect deliberate metaphors of perception in Ancient Egyptian?

11:15 Break

11:45 Agnieszka Hamann – Uniwersytet Warszawski Poland – Deliberate metaphor in Maya hieroglyphic texts

12:30 Lunch

14:00 Fabian Horn – Ludwig-Maximilians-Universität München – “Entering the House of Hades”: Metaphors of Death, Deliberateness, and Formulaic Language in Early Greek Poetry

14:45 Markus Egg – Humboldt-Universität zu Berlin – To those walking in the footsteps of the faith: Deliberate metaphor in the Pauline epistles

15:30 Concluding remarks

